GIVING TUESDAY

For over 45 years the Christian Ophthalmology Society (COS) has existed because of the generosity of its members and others to actively "Share Christ's Light through Caring for Sight!" We are grateful that you are a part of our mission.

Tuesday, November 29th, is Giving Tuesday. You might already have a giving plan for the end of the year, but if you are still deciding how you are going to give, would you consider financially supporting the COS Ministry Fund or one of our Foster a Missionary Funds with a year-end gift?

The society is experiencing growth in our ministries throughout the US and world. Here are a few examples:

- We continue to support the next generation of ophthalmologists in training through grant support for our Annual Meeting attendance.
- The Glen Brindley Mentorship Program
- Foster a Missionary Program - a ministry where the society pours in to one specific missionary for a full year. This year it is Dr. Wendy Hofman in Gabon.
- Providing venues yearly within major medical meetings including the AAO, ASCRS, and ARVO.
- The Women's Zoom Group.
- Partnering with local members to launch Regional Refresh events in different cities around the country.
- Providing both print and digital resources for the practicing ophthalmologist and for those in training including archives of our important talks and lectures.

With each of these ministries, we hope to support ophthalmologists around the world to practice first class medicine while communicating the gospel of Jesus Christ with their patients and communities.

"The President's Corner" by Jean Hausheer

How do we rest in God's greatness? How do we experience the abundant life he has for each of us?

So, let's say that you're holding a cup of coffee when someone comes along and accidentally bumps into you or your arm, making you unfortunately spill your coffee. Why did you spill the coffee?

"Well because someone bumped into me, of course!"

Maybe not.....
